Council OKs Preliminaries Of Workhouse Contract Plan

Circleville Council, meeting in regular session last night approved the drawing of an ordinance authorizing a contract with the Cincinnati Workhouse to handle prisoners from the city.

The workhouse proposal was submitted to Council on Oct. 17 by Police Chief Robert Temple. The Pickaway County Board of Commissioners has voiced a favorable opinion on a similar contract by the county.

A main reason for the move, according to Chief Temple, is to alleviate overcrowded conditions at the County Jail. He said it also will tend to decrease the number of habitual jail cases here.

According to contractual information the cost per prisoner at the Cincinnati Workhouse would be $2 per day. The city now pays $2.25 a day for each prisoner committed to the County Jail.

HOWEVER, the city will be required to be responsible for transportation of prisoners to and from the workhouse. This means a court bailiff would be paid mileage for delivery.

The bailiff would also be paid for his return trip and again when bringing a prisoner back to the city after the sentence had been served.

Chief Temple said commercial buses may be used for the return trip providing the city pays the fare. In this case the workhouse would handle duties of placing the prisoner on the bus.

Figures disclosed that the workhouse plan would cost slightly more than handling prisoners at the local jail due to the transportation. Temple said he is of the opinion the overall benefits of the plan outweighs the smallest increase.

It was pointed out that the workhouse will handle minor medical care of local prisoners. However cost for major surgery or

Driver Injured In Collision Of Car, Diesel

A 19-year-old area man was taken to Berger Hospital after his auto was struck by a Norfolk and Western diesel engine at 4:40 p.m. yesterday south of the W. Main St. crossing.

Stephen E. Fullen, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was listed in "satisfactory" condition at noon today by Berger Hospital authorities.

Fullen suffered severe shock and possible internal injuries. City Patrolman William Goff said the driver also complained of chest injuries.

The accident occurred at a crossing south of Main Street near the Pickaway Grain Co. elevator.

HAROLD E. Jewell, Portsmouth, engineer of the N&W freight train, told officers he saw the vehicle approaching the tracks and attempted to warn him by sounding the whistle. Railway officials also stated that the bell warning at the crossing was in operation.

Fullen made the unsuccessful turn off Western Ave., officers said. The W. Main Street crossing is closed due to track repairs.

The engineer said the train was traveling approximately 30 miles per hour when it struck the auto on the right rear side.

Fullen's auto was a demolished, officers reported. The diesel unit was slightly damaged at the front of the engine.

The accident prompted chief of Police Robert Temple to caution local motorists to cross the tracks on the west side, at marked crossings only.

The barricades at the W. Main Street crossing will be removed as soon as the track repairs are made, Chief Temple said.

193 Profs Rap Fallout Shelter Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—One of 193 Cleveland professors who signed an open letter to President Kennedy protesting U.S. Civil Defense encouragement of fallout shelter construction says the letter was a "spontaneous act" without any organization or leadership.

Dr. Rosi Kuerti, associate professor of biology at Western Reserve University, said Tuesday the action was inspired by a similar letter involving eastern colleges as was an advertisement paid for by the Cleveland professors. The advertisement appearing in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, carries the text of the letter and names of the signers.

The Cleveland letter protested that government encouragement of fallout shelter construction "prepares the people for the acceptance of thermo-nuclear war as an instrument of national policy."

The letter was signed by 101 professors at Western Reserve, 73 at Case Institute of Technology and 19 at Fenn College.

Calling the encouragement of shelter building a "cruel deception," the letter asserted the cost of a really effective shelter program would equal the entire capital investment of the country.

Cemetery Feud Flares in Elyria

Unburied Body Center Of Mausoleum Fuss

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—A feud over the location of a body in the city-owned mausoleum at Ridgeway Cemetery has been referred to City Solicitor J. C. William Tattersall.

The body is that of Arthur Ely, a descendant of the founder of Elyria, who died at age 75 in November 1958. It is in a coffin on a pair of sawhorses in the mausoleum.

The body of the mother of Gerald S. Martin, former president of Elyria City Council, is in a sealed vault at the mausoleum, where it has been for about 18 years.

Last week Martin asked Dr. H. A. Robinson, city health commissioner, to do something about Ely's body, contending it is illegal for a person not to be buried in the ground or in a sealed vault.

Ely's widow demanded that her husband's body be left where it is for the time being. She explained that plans have been made for a $31,000 pink marble mausoleum for her deceased husband, but a court fight over his estate has tied up funds for it.

Mrs. Ely is co-trustee with the Savings Deposit Bank & Trust Co. of the $600,000 estate. Each is trying to oust the other from trusteeship.

"Arthur made me promise that I would never have him buried in the ground," the widow said Tuesday. "That's why I've kept him at the city mausoleum until I can get money to build one."

Martin said last week that if something wasn't done with Ely's body he would get his mother's body out of the mausoleum and put it in his living room.

Mrs. Ely retorted: "Fine! If that happens I'll take Arthur out and put him in my bedroom."

Honeymoon Cruise Ends Up on Rocks

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—A honeymoon cruise ended up literally on the rocks Tuesday. These rocks were in Lake Erie off Ashtabula.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alatalo, who sold their home in Warren, Mich., earlier this month and sailed for Florida in an 18-foot sloop, were involved.

Caught in shifting winds, the Alatalos were unable to get the sloop's auxiliary motor started and their boat was blown ashore. The couple climbed a high cliff and telephoned the Coast Guard.

Coast guardsmen refloated the sloop, but the Alatalos said they would remain in Ashtabula until the extent of damage had been determined.

The newlyweds plan to sail to Miami via Lake Erie, the Erie Canal and intercoastal waterway. From Florida they hope to go to Spain.

3 Girls Are Arrested In Stolen Automobile

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police of suburban Reynoldsburg reported the arrest Tuesday night of three teen-age girls from Dayton who they said were in a 1961 station wagon stolen in Fairborn and had a .32-caliber revolver.

Police said the trio, age 16, 18, and 14, were tampering with license plates when apprehended. The girls were expected to be turned over to the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus.

Thanksgiving, 1961

Pickaway Countians will pause tomorrow to join with millions upon millions of their fellow men in giving prayerful thanks for the blessings they find in life.

It will be a Thanksgiving Day that finds much of the world torn by conflicts of arms and ideologies, much as it was when a little band of pilgrims fled their British homeland to seek refuge and the freedom to worship as they believed, freedom to lead lives worthy of the struggle.

On this Thanksgiving Day, 1961, peoples in many parts of the globe pause to lift their hearts and voices in praise for those things which make their lives worthwhile. An American holiday—though not proclaimed officially for many years after the founding of the nation—the custom of Thanksgiving has spread to many other countries.

In Latin America and Africa, Southeast Asia and the Soviet Union as well, there will be persons who will devote tomorrow to simple rites of humble thanks.

LOCALLY, nearly all business places will be closed as families enjoy Thanksgiving together. Public offices will also be closed and school classes will be dismissed. Special religious services have been planned in many parts of the county. In Circleville Rev. Henry Walters will deliver the keynote sermon "Thanks Means Giving" to hundreds of worshippers at the annual Union Thanksgiving service in the Calvary EUB Church.

Most families will be at home, enjoying an abundance of delicious food and company. Winds and possible snow will probably curtail much extensive travel. Law enforcement officers have cautioned motorists to exercise extreme caution if they must drive. Special efforts will be made to keep the accident rate as low as possible.

In a sorely afflicted world, often the burden of life seems crushing. Thanksgiving is a brief moment to examine the things which make it worthwhile.

It was Penny. She guided him to the spot where Ingebreton had fallen and died last September.

Alexander went to notify officers, who were unable to relocate the body until Monday night. Penny was still there.

Sheriff L. W. Stegeman said Penny, who apparently had lived off the land during her long vigil, had been turned over to Ingebreton's niece, Mrs. Loya Schaub of nearby Spooner.

Prayer, Festivity To Mark Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation pauses Thursday amid the travail of a vanishing year to mark another Thanksgiving Day—the 340th in America's history—with prayer and festive camaraderie.

The mixture of joy and solemnity surrounding the occasion was summed up in President Kennedy's annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation.

"This year, as the harvest draws near its close, and the year approaches its end, awesome perils again remain to be faced. Yet we have, as in the past, ample reason to be thankful for the abundance of our blessings," Kennedy said.

The President will spend the four-day Thanksgiving weekend on Cape Cod, devoting part of it to a conference on the military budget and part of an interview with Soviet editor Alexei I. Adzhubei, son-in-law of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy leaves Washington today for his Hyannis Port, Mass., home, where members of the family will gather Thursday for a big Thanksgiving dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy.

Elsewhere in the nation, Americans will mark the Thanksgiving holiday with church services, private gatherings, sports events and parades.

Airlines, trains and buses have stepped up service to handle thousands of college students going home for the first of the big school year holidays.

Not far from President Kennedy's Cape Cod home, descendants of the brave souls who came over on the Mayflower stole a march on the rest of the country with a celebration Tuesday.

At Provincetown, Mass., 50 persons braved a bitter wind to gather at the scene of the Pilgrims' first landing on the tip of Cape Cod in 1620. The Mayflower dropped anchor there after a stormy 66-day journey, the Pilgrims taking shelter before they sailed across the bay to settle permanently in Plymouth.

It was in the Plymouth settlement in the following year that the first Thanksgiving was held. Friendly Indians introduced the Pilgrims to the turkey, now the traditional staple of the holiday feast.

At Plymouth, there will be the customary open house ceremony with cider and doughnuts served to visitors. Costumed townspeople will reenact the Pilgrims' armed march to church on that first Thanksgiving in 1621.

In foreign lands around the world, American servicemen will be remembered with holiday feasts. The Pentagon announced that the menu will feature shrimp cocktail, roast turkey with giblet gravy, bread dressing, canberry sauce, mashed and candied sweet potatoes, buttered peas and succotash, assorted crisp relishes, hot rolls and butter, pumpkin pie with whipped cream or mince pie, assorted fruits and candy, tea, coffee, milk.

New York City expects 1½ million children—of various ages—to line Broadway for the annual Macy's Thanksgiving parade. Millions more will watch on national television networks.

The down-and-outers on the Bowery in New York, and along the skid rows of other cities from coast to coast will be treated on the holiday with turkey dinners served by charitable groups.

Special prayers of Thanksgiving will be offered in New York at St. Patrick's Cathedral, the Episcopal Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, the Jewish Temple Emanuel on upper Fifth Avenue, and the Salvation Army Memorial Temple on the lower West Side.

Members of the Jewish, Presbyterian and Methodist faiths will gather at the Central Synagogue at Lexington Avenue and 55th Street for the 26th annual interfaith service.

While the rest of the nation feasts on turkey with trimmings, 250 vegetarians will set down to Thanksgiving dinner at a West 38th Street restaurant, where the menu will feature "vegetable roast."

McElroy Hat Tossed into Governor Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy declared his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He is the first man of either party to enter the 1962 race.

McElroy declined to say firmly that he is in the contest to stay should a draft move persuade Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to change his mind and run again.

The 55-year-old Clevelander left the door open to a possible withdrawal in the face of such a development when he told newsmen: "That's one of those things we'll have to take one step at a time."

The attorney general said it is his feeling from DiSalle's public statements that the governor will not be a candidate again.

Asked whether, if elected, he would support the DiSalle program, McElroy replied: "Things in government are never static. I wouldn't want to pin myself down to any such declaration at this time."

"The DiSalle programs have had a humanitarian base I don't think anyone argues with the aims and purposes of Gov. DiSalle. The only consideration is the amount of income the state enjoys. I have the conviction that the state income will increase in the 1961-62 fiscal year. That conviction is based on the business outlook."

McElroy told the news conference he believes new or increased taxes can be avoided through a general improvement in the nation's economic level.

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Former Vice President John Nance Garner stoutly vetoed a big party for his 93rd birthday today.

Sunspot Effect On Tree Rings Is Disclaimed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tree rings, beautiful male butterflies, and lamps in the sea figure in science news: Sunspots and Trees

Two scientists find evidence against the theory that sunspot cycles show up in the annual growth rings of trees.

Sunspots follow an 11-year cycle. Some experts think the sunspot effects on climate are strong enough to be reflected in rings of old trees in the southwestern United States.

It is generally accepted that climatic changes do show up in the width of growth rings of ancient trees.

But John Dutton and Prof. Reid A. Bryson of the University of Wisconsin meteorology department said they cannot find a real correlation between sunspot cycles and tree growth. They analyzed tree ring data with a statistical method to detect cycles.

Male Beauty
The beautiful colors and designs sported by male butterflies seem to be completely superfluous, serving no useful purpose, reports Dr. R. E. Snodgrass, research associate of the Smithsonian Institution.

Among some birds, for example, male beauty attracts females. But among butterflies and moths, it is the females who attract males, and primarily through scent, he writes. The pretty colors of male butterflies may be useful in protective imitation, but "we need a theory to explain their colors on a scientific basis of usefulness to the insects themselves."

Lights in the Sea
Life in the oceans has evolved three distinct methods of lighting its way with luminescence.

The first and most significant is through special cells or organs which are provided with reflectors, lenses, and sometimes, shutters. Shrimps, squids and some fishes are examples, say Dr. J.A.C. Nicol of the Marine Biological Laboratory Plymouth, England.

A second form is discharging a cloud of luminous matter into sea water. This is used by some clams, shrimps, squids again, and bristleworms and some fishes.

Third is a cooperative method with luminous bacteria. An animal can harbor these bacteria within several glandlike organs, and supports them there. In return, the bacteria produce light for their host. The luminous bacteria take up abode in certain squids and fishes, Dr. Nicol says.

Santa's Headquarters In Fallout Shelter

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Just in case he has been too busy in his workshop to worry about "other" world problems, Santa Claus will get a first-hand lesson in nuclear age survival when he visits Athens this year.

The Retail Merchants Association said today it has made arrangements to use a model fallout shelter as Santa's temporary headquarters here.

Western Stars Stage Duel: Bank Accounts at 20 Paces

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two giants of the West are fighting it out yonder in Culver City—bank accounts at 20 paces.

Joel McCrea and Randolph Scott, who have starred in more Westerns than either would care to remember, have finally joined horses in a film, "Guns in the Afternoon."

A reporter could hope that there might be bad blood between them, and so I asked McCrea, "Is it true that Randy Scott is the slow-

BIG FIRST YEAR—Not as well known as some of pro football's big names, Al Sherman, a lefthanded passing quarterback when he played at Brooklyn College, is turning in a successful first season as coach of the New York Giants of the NFL. Sherman, at 39 one of the youngest of the pro coaches, took over for Jim Lee Howell when he retired at the end of the 1960 season. As a pro player with the Eagles in 1943-47 Sherman was a second-string quarterback.

est gun in the West?"
"I don't know about that," McCrea replied quickly, "but I know he's the richest gun in the West."

"The guy is loaded. You know what he does? He plays golf with those Texas millionaires and in the locker room afterwards, they say, 'Randy, we're drilling a new field—like to let you in on it.'"

"Hope and Crosby do the same thing; they get in on the ground floor and make a mint. I just happened to be looking into a natural gas investment and a broker told me, 'There's a guy in your business who knows as much about it as anybody—Randolph Scott.'"

I tramped to Scott's dressing room and tried to fire him up. "McCrea says you're the richest gun in the West," I said.

"Look who's talking," Scott said with a tight-lipped smile. "Why, McCrea is one of the really big cattle dealers. He got in it early and made a fortune."

"And look at the land he's got. He bought up 2,500 acres for a song, and now they're worth a fortune. He just sold off part of it—just a few acres—and he made something like $1.3 million. Just a few acres!"

McCrea confessed: "I've been lucky. I made some dough because I invested in the only thing I know about—land."

So it was a standoff. I couldn't even get them mad over billing. Scott's name goes on top, and he won it fair and square.

"We flipped a coin," said Scott. "Actually, I didn't even know it was happening. We were having lunch at the Brown Derby with the producer, Dick Lyons, and the director, Sam Peckinpah, and I thought they were flipping to see who got the check."

His Logis Is Good, but Not His Ethics

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An enterprising 12-year-old, loaded with logic though he was, got nothing but discouragement Monday night as he tried to set up his own retail business.

The boy's stock in trade was 50 bars of soap and 24 boxes of soap powder. His business location was a self-service laundry. Sheriff's deputies acknowledged the logic, but deplored the lad's ethics.

Deputy Claude Sammon said the stock had been stolen from a market next door to the laundry. The boy was being held by juvenile authorities.

Sunspot Effect On Tree Rings Is Disclaimed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tree rings, beautiful male butterflies, and lamps in the sea figure in science news:
Sunspots and Trees

Two scientists find evidence against the theory that sunspot cycles show up in the annual growth rings of trees.

Sunspots follow an 11-year cycle. Some experts think the sunspot effects on climate are strong enough to be reflected in rings of old trees in the southwestern United States.

It is generally accepted that climatic changes do show up in the width of growth rings of ancient trees.

But John Dutton and Prof. Reid A. Bryson of the University of Wisconsin meteorology department said they cannot find a real correlation between sunspot cycles and tree growth. They analyzed tree ring data with a statistical method to detect cycles. Male Beauty

The beautiful colors and designs sported by male butterflies seem to be completely superfluous, serving no useful purpose, reports Dr. R. E. Snodgrass, research associate of the Smithsonian Institution.

Among some birds, for example, male beauty attracts females. But among butterflies and moths, it is the females who attract males, and primarily through scent, he writes. The pretty colors of male butterflies may be useful in protective imitation, but "we need a theory to explain their colors on a scientific basis of usefulness to the insects themselves."

Lights in the Sea
Life in the oceans has evolved three distinct methods of lighting its way with luminescence.

The first and most significant is through special cells or organs which are provided with reflectors, lenses, and sometimes, shutters. Shrimps, squids and some fishes are examples, say Dr. J.A.C. Nicol of the Marine Biological Laboratory Plymouth, England.

A second form is discharging a cloud of luminous matter into sea water. This is used by some clams, shrimps, squids again, and bristleworms and some fishes.

Third is a cooperative method with luminous bacteria. An animal can harbor these bacteria within several glandlike organs, and supports them there. In return, the bacteria produce light for their host. The luminous bacteria take up abode in certain squids and fishes, Dr. Nicol says.

Santa's Headquarters In Fallout Shelter

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Just in case he has been too busy in his workshop to worry about "other" world problems, Santa Claus will get a first-hand lesson in nuclear age survival when he visits Athens this year.

The Retail Merchants Association said today it has made arrangements to use a model fallout shelter as Santa's temporary headquarters here.

Western Stars Stage Duel: Bank Accounts at 20 Paces

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two giants of the West are fighting it out yonder in Culver City—bank accounts at 20 paces.

Joel McCrea and Randolph Scott, who have starred in more Westerns than either would care to remember, have finally joined horses in a film, "Guns in the Afternoon."

A reporter could hope that there might be bad blood between them, and so I asked McCrea: "Is it true that Randy Scott is the slow-

est gun in the West?"

"I don't know about that," McCrea replied quickly, "but I know he's the richest gun in the West."

"The guy is loaded. You know what he does? He plays golf with those Texas millionaires and in the locker room afterwards, they say, 'Randy, we're drilling a new field—like to let you in on it.'"

"Hope and Crosby do the same thing; they get in on the ground floor and make a mint. I just happened to be looking into a natural gas investment and a broker told me, 'There's a guy in your business who knows as much about it as anybody—Randolph Scott.'"

I tramped to Scott's dressing room and tried to fire him up. "McCrea says you're the richest gun in the West," I said.

"Look who's talking," Scott said with a tight-lipped smile. "Why, McCrea is one of the really big cattle dealers. He got in it early and made a fortune."

"And look at the land he's got. He bought up 2,500 acres for a song, and now they're worth a fortune. He just sold off part of it—just a few acres—and he made something like $1.3 million. Just a few acres!"

McCrea confessed: "I've been lucky. I made some dough because I invested in the only thing I know about—land."

So it was a standoff. I couldn't even get them mad over billing. Scott's name goes on top, and he won it fair and square.

"We flipped a coin," said Scott. "Actually, I didn't even know it was happening. We were having lunch at the Brown Derby with the producer, Dick Lyons, and the director, Sam Peckinpah, and I thought they were flipping to see who got the check."

BIG FIRST YEAR—Not as well known as some of pro football's big names, Al Sherman, a lefthanded passing quarterback when he played at Brooklyn College, is turning in a successful first season as coach of the New York Giants of the NFL. Sherman, at 39 one of the youngest of the pro coaches, took over for Jim Lee Howell when he retired at the end of the 1960 season. As a pro player with the Eagles in 1943-47 Sherman was a second-string quarterback.

Finland Walks a Tightrope

Pity poor Finland The little nation has been walking the tightrope between East and West out of necessity because of its location for years. Now the Soviet Union is jiggling the rope.

With 800 miles of frontier with Russia, Finland doesn't dare to be too friendly to the West—even though her leaders would like to be. The fact is that the Soviet Union could roll over the northern country any time it wished, as it did in 1940 (of course the Finns withstood 45 Soviet divisions for 100 days before being overrun).

But it seems doubtful that Khrushchev and his cohorts care much about Finland itself; they even gave up the base they had on Finnish soil. The demands for "defense" consultations" against a mythical West German attack are part of the worldwide probing operation of the Kremlin.

Khrushchev knows now that he cannot gain a major victory in Berlin without risking a nuclear war. So he eases pressure there. But the pressure is applied at various points. Southeast Asia, Iran, Afghanistan, and now Finland.

Americans sometimes lose sight of the significance of this—that the reason the Soviets shift their operations from point to point so that in each instance they fail to make substantial gains.

The Free World's defensive ring around the communist heartland is still intact, even though cries of alarm are raised repeatedly about weaknesses. The Soviet Union and communist China have found no way to penetrate it successfully.

Desk Cleanup Reveals Treasures

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Every few years or so, whether it needs it or not, I clean off my office desk. Always it is by compulsion; never by choice.

Sometimes this cleaning chore is undertaken when a fire department inspector threatens to give me a summons for maintaining a hazard to public life and property. More often it is the result of an ultimatum from the boss.

"I'm tired of having to climb a stepladder to look over the debris on your desk to see whether you're loafing or working. Clean it off," the boss will say.

The boss usually adds condescendingly, "A messy desk is an indication of an insecure childhood. There's something filthy about a grown man who even hoards used toothpicks in his desk because he's afraid to throw anything away."

"Well, in a crisis a used toothpick is better than none," I tell him, and go on to point out: "You've got your psychology backward. A man with a polished desk shows an insecure adulthood trying to hide a secret sense of guilt. A clean desk is the sign of a frightened mind."

As my boss—and the other swivel chair Caesars on the executive rungs above me—all maintain spotless desks, my own rubbled desk may explain why I've never been elected general manager of my firm. There must be some explanation why honest merit has been held down for 30 years.

The rest of the staff enjoys pitching in and helping me, too. What greater pleasure in office life is there than pawing through another fellow's desk—on company time, naturally?

If the 50 people who work near me spend only a week of their time happily sifting through the man-made mountain I labor behind, I figure it costs the firm more than $5,000 every time I clean my desk.

But what better investment can a well-run organization make? Everybody has more fun than he does at the office picnic. Most everybody winds up with a souvenir worth keeping. The other fellow's desk always has something in it you'd like to have yourself.

So far I haven't really dented the Mt. Everest atop and inside my desk, but here are a few items I've found:

A pair of adenoids sent in a test tube by an admiring reader who apparently had no further use for them.

46 packets of matches.

137 pieces of string in eight colors.

About 13 cents worth of stub on a dollar cigar.

A picture of Sophie Tucker as a child actress.

18 toothpicks—only 9 used.

A bottle of sulphur and molasses tonic.

A 1948 Dewey campaign button, and a 1952 one for Stevenson.

A letter dated "Little Big Horn, May 15, 1876." The letter contains only one word: "Help." It is signed "George Armstrong Custer"—but the signature could be a fake.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Consumers are still plagued by the high cost of living. But one major contributor to rising prices in the past is absent just now. That is advancing industrial prices.

Such prices, in fact, are holding remarkably steady despite the recovery of industry from the last recession. In other postwar recoveries these prices have advanced sharply.

And because of this stability there is a growing hope that the general rise in the cost of living can be held in check this time. Adding to the prospect is an increasing belief that labor cost advances will be moderate in the next few months, perhaps about in line with offsetting increases in productivity.

Some industrial prices have weakened during the recovery—notably aluminum and other non-ferrous metals. Steel prices haven't risen in spite of all the talk about it a few weeks ago when labor costs rose.

Prices of some building materials have dropped, with excess capacity or changing construction demands credited.

Many other industrial prices are holding in a narrow range close to recession levels.

Industrialists point to this to argue that any recent rises in consumer prices can be laid at other doors.

Services have been the most active risers in recent months. Some say this is a delayed reaction to earlier cost boosts at the manufacturing and labor levels.

In general the rise in prices during and since the recession has been traced largely to the added costs of distribution, processing and retailing. The cost of the basic materials have remained fairly steady.

Food is its own story. Its original price is influenced by weather and government supports. After that the processing and distributing costs are added. Often the store price seems far away from the farm price.

But this time at least such creeping advances in the cost of living as have shown up in recent months can't be traced to soaring industrial prices.

In the recovery from the 1949 recession the jump in industrial prices was 15 per cent. After the 1954 recession industrial prices rose by 10 per cent, and after the 1958 slump, 3 per cent.

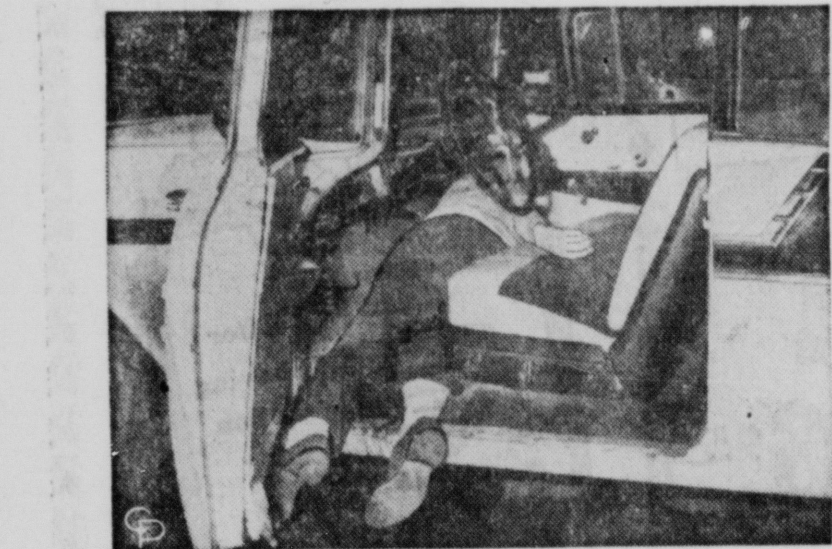

Noting this diminishing percentage and the lack of any jump this time, the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland wonders if industrial prices haven't achieved a stability that could even withstand the impact of increasing defense and other government spending.

The price stability was noted well before the recovery period. One of the major disappointments—to consumers at least—was that the cost of living continued to edge higher through most of the recession months. Prices didn't fall just because industrial activity did.

The reason given was that industrial materials might be in less demand but the cost of producing goods and services depended more on other things—labor, convenience processing, transportation, distribution outlets.

But if industrial prices should take a sudden spurt, you'd be sure to feel it in time in your monthly bills. That they are stable now is one happy factor for consumers to note.

A BEATNIK WANDERED into church, and on the way out, told the Reverend, "You were swinging, Daddy-O. You were way out."

"What was that again?"

Inquired the Reverend, knitting his brow.

"I mean," amplified the cat, "I dug your jive. I read you so good I put ten big fish in your collection plate."

"Ah," beamed the Reverend, grasping the beatnik's hand. "Cool, man. Cool!"

Dear Doctor: Does safflower oil help release fatty acids which, in turn, burn body fats? I need to lose 20 pounds.

Mrs. H. C.

Dear Mrs. C.: Acids from unsaturated fats like safflower oil may combine with fatty cholesterol inside the intestine.

This combined cholesterol can't be absorbed back into the blood stream. And so you may lose up to one gram of fat each day — one pound in 15 months!

Dear Doctor: Why should cortisone make me gain weight? I've never had trouble with my figure before.

Mrs. O. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: Extra water is weighing you down, not extra fat. Salt gradually builds up in your system when you take cortisone.

You need loads of water to dilute this salt. And water is heavy — a square basin, 1 foot on each side and 1 foot high, holds 62½ pounds.

Dear Doctor: Will a tubal operation affect my monthly menstrual flow?

Truth Is Sufficient

By George Sokolsky

"Common Sense" is a publication which devotes itself to anti-Jewish propaganda and is often careless as to the facts. Mixing opinion with facts, "Common Sense" in some matters, becomes startlingly confused.

At this moment, I refer to a paragraph concerning the meeting between Senator Joe McCarthy and Bernard Baruch. "Common Sense" says of this:

"Same when Senator Joseph McCarthy left Bernard Baruch's apartment in New York and went to the Dutch Treat Club to speak. The Senator had refused to ease up on the 38 Communist Jews uncovered at Fort Monmouth in New Jersey. Baruch was angry because these Jews were from his pet college. At 2 p. m. Sen. Ralph Flanders stood on the Senate Floor and attacked Senator McCarthy. That was the clue for nation-wide attacks. Baruch had given the signal to destroy McCarthy."

During most of this conversation only four persons were present, namely, Bernard Baruch, Joe McCarthy and myself, later Roy Cohn joined us. Of those who were present, McCarthy died.

Now, let us deal with this paragraph fact by fact:

1. The meeting did not occur in Baruch's apartment. It took place in a hotel suite which was suitably located for all persons concerned.

2. Baruch did not ask any favors of McCarthy. Rather, he denounced the American Communists and praised McCarthy for the work he was doing.

3. He warned McCarthy that elements existed inside and outside government who would do anything possible to destroy McCarthy and that he had to be careful that he did not walk into the hands of his enemies.

4. The meeting was friendly

In the recovery from the 1949 recession the jump in industrial prices was 15 per cent. After the 1954 recession industrial prices rose by 10 per cent, and after the 1958 slump, 3 per cent.

Noting this diminishing percentage and the lack of any jump this time, the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland wonders if industrial prices haven't achieved a stability that could even withstand the impact of increasing defense and other government spending.

The price stability was noted well before the recovery period. One of the major disappointments—to consumers at least—was that the cost of living continued to edge higher through most of the recession months. Prices didn't fall just because industrial activity did.

The reason given was that industrial materials might be in less demand but the cost of producing goods and services depended more on other things—labor, convenience processing, transportation, distribution outlets.

But if industrial prices should take a sudden spurt, you'd be sure to feel it in time in your monthly bills. That they are stable now is one happy factor for consumers to note.

Dear Doctor: Does safflower oil help release fatty acids which, in turn, burn body fats? I need to lose 20 pounds.

Mrs. H. C.

Dear Mrs. C.: Acids from unsaturated fats like safflower oil may combine with fatty cholesterol inside the intestine.

This combined cholesterol can be absorbed back into the blood stream. And so you may lose up to one gram of fat each day — one pound in 15 months!

Dear Doctor: Why should cortisone make me gain weight? I've never had trouble with my figure before.

Mrs. O. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: Extra water is weighing you down, not extra fat. Salt gradually builds up in your system when you take cortisone. You need lots of water to dilute this salt. And water is heavy — a square basin, 1 foot on each side and 1 foot high, holds 62½ pounds.

Dear Doctor: Will a tubal operation affect my monthly menstrual flow?

Mrs. D. L.

Dear Mrs. L.: If the womb and one ovary remain, the operation shouldn't disturb your regular schedule. Still, worry, concern and congestion from the operation may make matters a little irregular for a while.

But once the wound heals, you can count on that old calendar again!

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BEATNIK WANDERED into church, and on the way out, told the Reverend, "You were swinging, Daddy-O. You were way out."

"What was that again?" inquired the Reverend, knitting his brow.

"I mean," amplified the cat, "I dug your jive. I read you so good I put ten big fish in your collection plate."

"Ah," beamed the Reverend, grasping the beatnik's hand. "Cool, man. Cool!"

In Hollywood, they tell of a performer who tried to impress an agent with a brand new act. "I catch razor-sharp butcher knives with my teeth," he boasted, and not- ing an incredulous look in the agent's eye, added, "I suppose you think I'm smiling!"

A patient entered a crowded waiting room, rushed up to the doctor, and said very loudly, "Better let me come in first, Doc. I just swallowed a hand grenade."

Truth Is Sufficient

"Common Sense" is a publication which devotes itself to anti-Jewish propaganda and is often careless as to the facts. Mixing opinion with facts, "Common Sense," in some matters, becomes startlingly confused.

At this moment, I refer to a paragraph concerning the meeting between Senator Joe McCarthy and Bernard Baruch. "Common Sense" says of this:

"Same when Senator Joseph McCarthy left Bernard Baruch's apartment in New York and went to the Dutch Treat Club to speak. The Senator had refused to ease up on the 38 Communist Jews uncovered at Fort Monmouth in New Jersey. Baruch was angry because these Jews were from his pet college. At 2 p. m. Sen. Ralph Flanders stood on the Senate Floor and attacked Senator McCarthy. That was the clue for nation-wide attacks. Baruch had given the signal to destroy McCarthy."

During most of this conversation only four persons were present, namely, Bernard Baruch, Joe McCarthy and myself, later Roy Cohn joined us. Of those who were present, McCarthy died.

Now, let us deal with this paragraph fact by fact:

1. The meeting did not occur in Baruch's apartment. It took place in a hotel suite which was suitably located for all persons concerned.

2. Baruch did not ask any favors of McCarthy. Rather, he denounced the American Communists and praised McCarthy for the work he was doing.

3. He warned McCarthy that elements existed inside and outside government who would do anything possible to destroy McCarthy and that he had to be careful that he did not walk into the hands of his enemies.

4. The meeting was friendly throughout. There was not one angry word and to that I would be willing to provide an oath. Baruch did not defend the Communist traitors of the College of the City of New York, which was not involved.

As only I and Roy Cohn were present at any time during the conversation between these two men, only we can attest to what they said. Neither Cohn nor I told "Common Sense" what transpired. Baruch has not provided such information. McCarthy is dead. Who then gave "Common Sense" this false statement of what occurred? Was it a hotel maid?

Actually the incident is not important nor is "Common Sense" of which most Americans have not heard. But this little publication is being circulated by anti-Semites as authoritative, as having inside information about all sorts of things. Nobody bothers to call its bluff and therefore it is assumed it must be right. And a lie often repeated and never denied is believed as though it were true.

But with regard to this incident, no representative of "Common Sense" was present. I was present during the entire conversation. Joe McCarthy, who cannot defend his own reputation, was never an anti-Semite. In fact, he requested me to arrange a meeting between himself and some officers of the Anti-Defamation League, which I did. The conversation was smooth and pleasant, no one losing his temper. McCarthy was surprised to find that these men were as strongly anti-Communist as he was, although he had heard differently. No representative of "Common Sense" was present at this meeting but I was.

I make this point because we are careless in permitting these marginal publications to spread falsehoods about distinguished Americans who are serving their country admirably. While it is true that there have been a number of Jews in the Communist Party, principally because of their deep hatred for Hitler, the head of the Communist Party during the period under discussion was Earl Browder, who is not a Jew. The present leaders, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and Benjamin Davis, are not Jews.

In fact, the Communist International is now an anti-Semitic movement because of their association with Nasser and other Arabs. Historic necessity, which is their only

The finding of a black pearl off Ortona, Italy, has made quite a splash. Many townsmen, we read, have now gone in for skin diving.

Castro's government has announced it will buy up all Cuban movie houses. Wonder what they're trying to do — get a monopoly of popcorn distribution.

The Ontario provincial government reports that it netted a whopping $80 million profit from their sale of liquor and beer in the last fiscal year. Now, there's a take big enough to make anyone's head swim!

The Census Bureau reveals the number of Indians in the U.S. has doubled since 1900. In other words — the Vanishing American ain't!

There are some 34 million cameras in the hands of amateur photographers in the U. S. — Factographs. As the man at the next desk would say, that's quite a snappy figure!

A Hint for the Holiday; Pick Bird's Wishbone

If you want to get more of those neat slices of white meat from your next turkey, remove the wishbone before cooking.

"It does make quite a bit of difference," says Dorothy Batcheller, home economics director for a poultry products institute in Canada. "If the wishbone isn't removed, the meat has to be hacked away as well as possible."

To remove the bone, draw back the neck skin until it exposes the wishbone area. With a sharp knife or scissors cut the meat down to the bone and away from it. Scissors can be used to cut the bone where it is anchored at the shoulder bones and at the top of the breastbone. Lift out and put the skin back.

"If you're sentimental about the wishbone, dry it in the oven, decorate with holly and give to the family to wish on as usual."

If a frozen turkey is purchased, it may be thawed in the package in which it comes. To hasten thawing, put in a pan of cold water.

Remove the package containing the giblets and check the cavity to make sure it is clean. Wipe with a damp cloth or run water through the bird, then wipe dry.

Turkey does not have to be stuffed. Flavor from the dressing does not penetrate more than one-half inch into the meat and the same effect can be obtained by sprinkling the cavity with salt and poultry dressing. If you don't stuff, deduct five minutes cooking time for each pound of turkey.

When the bird is ready for the oven, rub with melted fat and cover with a tent of aluminum foil tucked at the ends but open at the sides so that the heat can circulate. Put on a rack in a shallow pan.

If you do not own a large enough pan, make one from heavy aluminum foil and set on a cookie sheet. If you do not own a rack, substitute crossed kitchen forks, jar rings or any kind of a trivet.

"Forget about the bird for the first half of the cooking time. Frequent peeking lowers the oven temperature and prolongs cooking time," explains Miss Batcheller.

Remove foil during the last half hour to allow the skin to crisp. For a true roasted flavor, cook

DRESSING FOR DINNER?

If you're making stuffing, Miss Batcheller recommends bread. It's dry enough if it crumbles when rubbed together.

The easiest way to prepare bread crumbs is to cut the crusts off, then put one quarter to one-third of a loaf in a clean tea towel. Form a bag with the towel, hold firmly and rub. Allow one cup of dressing for each pound of turkey.

at 325 degrees. The turkey is done when the drumstick twists easily from side to side or when the bone slips easily inside the meat. If a meat thermometer is used, it should register 190 degrees in the meat or 165 degrees in the stuffing.

If the bird is allowed to stand in a warm place for 15 or 20 minutes the juices have a chance to redistribute themselves and carving is easier.

Some good cooks like to add coffee to a butterscotch sauce to serve over ice cream, pudding or cake.

When you bake muffins from a recipe that's rich in shortening and sugar, you can skip offering butter with them.

Life of Medical Books Short

Q. I have an old doctor book that says glycerin is a wonderful laxative. Can it be used instead of mineral oil?

A. The only way glycerin is currently used as a laxative is in the form of suppositories. Glycerin should not be taken by mouth as a laxative. It is often said in all sincerity that the useful life of a medical textbook is something less than 10 years. Medical knowledge advances so rapidly that a textbook even 10 years old is likely to be far out of date. Your ancient "doctor book" may be a valuable antique but it could scarcely be considered a good source of medical information.

Cancer From Lipstick
Q. I have a scar on my lip. Could lipstick irritate the scar and cause cancer?

A. The lipstick-cancer question is hotly debated. Some investigators call attention to the presence in lipstick of certain dyes that may be harmful. Other equally qualified investigators consider the danger of cancer from such a source as lipstick as scientifically unfounded. To straddle the fence, some cosmetic manufacturers offer special formula "non-irritating" lipstick which contains no dyes. Insoluble pigments are used to obtain the desired colors. If you so desire you might use this type of special lipstick.

Intermarriage

Q. Medically speaking, would marriage be OK between a woman and her half-uncle?

A. The medical implications in such a case are definitely more serious than if the man and woman were not related. The legal aspects depend upon the statutes of the state of residency. Every state forbids the marriage of uncle and niece. Some specifically include the half-relationship, and others might interpret their laws to include it.

VEGETABLE AND TURKEY leftovers, heated in gravy, return to the table in the center of a Saffron Rice Ring. They're served with star-shaped Cranberry Salad Molds.

New Notes for the Feast, Ways to Serve Leftovers

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

No need to dust off the crystal ball to deduce the dinner menu for Thursday — and for a day or two following. It's turkey!

First, the bird appears in all its Thanksgiving glory. Then its tender, juicy meat makes a return visit to the table, for, happily, there are always leftovers.

Tradition pretty well sets the menu for this all-American feast but a good cook always likes to introduce one or two new notes.

Why not sound them with ruby-bright cranberries served, not as sauce, but in a novel way? The berries, with their tart-sweet flavor, so beautifully with the bird.

Use them to make Fresh Cranberry Stuffing. Star them, too, in a side dish to pass with the meat, Cranberry-Apple-Lemon Relish.

When it comes to leftovers, the relish can be used to make Cranberry Salad Molds.

As for turkey, vegetables and gravy, let them join forces and serve them in the center of a Saffron Rice Ring.

VEGETABLE AND TURKEY leftovers, heated in gravy, return to the table in the center of a Saffron Rice Ring. They're served with star-shaped Cranberry Salad Molds.

New Notes for the Feast, Ways to Serve Leftovers

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

No need to dust off the crystal ball to deduce the dinner menu for Thursday — and for a day or two following. It's turkey!

First, the bird appears in all its Thanksgiving glory. Then its tender, juicy meat makes a return visit to the table, for happily, there are always leftovers.

Tradition pretty well sets the menu for this all-American feast but a good cook always likes to introduce one or two new notes.

Ohio Students Parley with Kennedy Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bluffton College students, who picketed the White House last weekend in protest against nuclear testing in the atmosphere, met with Arthur Schlesinger Jr., special assistant to the President, Monday night.

The students said they proposed to Schlesinger a national conference of student leaders on nuclear testing and disarmament, with the president to address the conference.

Jan Emmert, one of the students said Schlesinger was "generally receptive," but suggested that the initiative for such a conference should come from the students themselves.

The students also lodged a protest against nuclear testing during a two-hour visit at the Soviet Embassy. They held a question-and-answer period with Boris Davidov, Soviet political attaché, who, they later reported, was not fully responsive to questions.

"I tried to make it clear that there should not be a continuation of the armed race," said James Roth, spokesman for the students. He read a statement to Davidov which said the harmful effects of radioactive fallout are widespread and lasting. Roth said the Soviet Union had broke the test moratorium.

The student picketing began last week with a group from Grinnell College, Iowa. The Bluffton students Saturday began a similar three-day parade and water-only fast.

The Ohioans were relieved Monday by a group from Carleton College in Minnesota.

Discount House Operator Says Key Is Bright Lights

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—"Look, get those lights on right away, will you?"

It was not a question but a command by Hyman Ullner to a

Best Friend

Is Hair Dryer

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—After it was reported that the home of movie star Zsa Zsa Gabor was burned, along with all her furs, jewels and paintings, in the recent California brush fires, a Mansfield firm wired her:

"We cannot replace jewels, furs or paintings but we do want to replace your hair dryer." The firm sent her a dryer.

This telegram came from Zsa Zsa:

"Furs and jewels I can do without but hair dryers are a girl's best friend. Thanks so much."

Teacher Clayburn Hitchcock was opening a shipment of "prepared" frogs to be dissected when the lid popped off. Inside were 288 live and bouncing frogs.

clerk at Rink's Bargain City near Hamilton.

Ullner operates a discount store, a big one now with three branches. He knows that customers like bright lights.

Down the aisle of his store, the lights bear down on row after row of discount merchandise, stacked neatly, designed to tell the customer: Here is a bargain.

The lights, simple racks for clothes, lack of poshness, check-out stands, an amazing variety of things to sell—these are marks of the discount store operator today.

Ullner and his brother Coleman were pioneers in a business that is briskly becoming bigger and more important to American retailing.

A decade ago, their friends thought the Ullners out of their minds when they started Rink's—in an old roller skating rink.

"People told us it was impossible. But after the first day I knew we'd make it," said Hyman. They went into Rink's from a moderately successful business called Famous Surplus Stores which had grown to sales of $350,000 yearly.

It was a bigger step than starting Famous Surplus, which involved $300 in capital and plenty of business guts in 1946.

Three days out of the Army, Hyman teamed with Coleman to buy surplus items. He said, "Coleman was a pharmacist's mate in the Navy and I'd studied pharmacy. Our first deal we bought five million sleeping pills."

Hyman says, "Volume is the key to this business. In two or three years there will be about four or five big discounters operating."

He said the next big discount trend will probably be in food, with some supermarkets operating leased departments in big general stores.

In the future, Hyman said, Rink's may find the best move is affiliating with a national chain.

Right now, however, they're pushing ahead in greater Cincinnati. Rink's has outlets in several Southwest Ohio cities and plans more. A store is currently under construction in Northern Kentucky.

The Ullners expect to drive ahead to eight other stores next year, seven more in 1963.

Ten years ago "we had to scout after merchandise," Hyman said. "Most of the big people didn't want to sell to a so-called discounter."

Today the big manufacturers are searching out the discount store operator to handle their goods.

Rink's expects to push into $12 million yearly sales with its present greater Cincinnati stores.

She Collects Own Insurance

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Staying alive is usually worthwhile—especially if you do so long enough.

The case of Mrs. Mary A. Coffman of Hillsboro proves it.

Mrs. Coffman going on 96, received a $15,000 insurance check last week as payment on a policy she took out in 1936 when she was 72 years old.

The insurance company said Mrs. Coffman has outlived the insurance industry's mortality tables—something that does not happen often.

Mrs. Coffman has been retired since 1949 when she sold the laundry and dry cleaning company she and her husband founded in 1910. He died in 1930.

Old Religious Bugaboo May Plague Dems

WASHINGTON (AP)—A possible religious controversy lurked today in the background of a threatened fight over the House speakership.

The possibility was raised by announcement by Rep. Albert Rains of Alabama that he is considering opposing Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts for the top House post, made vacant by the death last Thursday of Speaker Sam Rayburn.

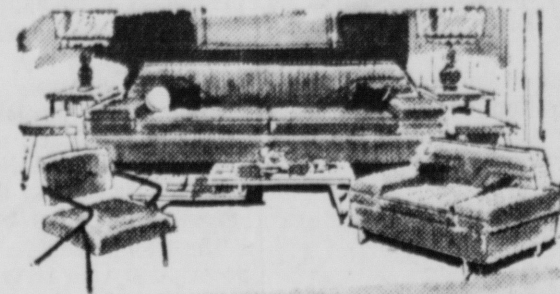

McCormack, 70, presently has no official opposition for Rayburn's seat, to which most observers had assumed he would be promoted by virtue of having been Democratic floor leader since 1940 and acting speaker since Rayburn was stricken last August.

McCormack is a Roman Catholic, and his election as speaker would give members of that religion the top two positions in Congress, as well as the presidency. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Senate Democratic leader, also is a Catholic.

Should Rains, 55, a Baptist, decide to challenge McCormack, it would provide a rallying point for members who do not believe a Catholic should be in the top spot in both branches of Congress. It could inject the religious issue into the speakership race and split wide open the Democratic House majority already threatened with a fight over the majority leadership.

Solons Approve Intentions To Appropriate Easements

City Council last night adopted two resolutions calling for intentions to appropriate easements in land for contemplated sewer projects.

One of the appropriating easements deals with the sanitary sewerage system in the Walnut Creek Pike area and the other with the Sanitary Sewer District No. 2 project in the north and northeast section of the city. Both resolutions were adopted under suspension of rules and by affirmative votes of all seven councilmen.

Eight parcels of land are involved in the Walnut Creek Pike measure. Four parcels are listed in the Sewer District No. 2 resolution.

According to the resolutions, permanent and temporary work easements are needed across the land in question in order to construct the sewerage systems.

SEVEN of the eight parcels of land in the Walnut Creek Pike area, recently annexed by the city, are owned by Orin L. and Mabel Bircher. The other is the property of Frank and Geneva Woodward.

Parcels in the District No. 2 coverage are owned by Virginia Replegle, Russell and Elsie Williams, Ida Kraft Rader and Paul Frenk and Rose Friesner.

Other property owners in both areas have agreed to easement terms offered by the city. According to Council, all owners have previously been approached.

Through the resolutions, Council stated that it is deemed necessary to appropriate the easements for the purpose of and the right to construct, repair, maintain operate and inspect sewer lines as a part of the sewerage systems in both territories.

The declaration for intent of appropriation was to take effect immediately upon passage of the resolutions. Owners were to be notified by direction of the mayor.

Reviewing the current easement problems, Councilman Joe Bell said action in Sewer District No. 2 is urgently needed. He again stressed the point that the new Nicholas Drive Elementary School will be dependent on the sewerage facilities. The building is due to open in September of 1962.

IN OTHER legislative action, the lawmakers passed two ordinances calling for the transfer of money. They were:

Transfer of $827.50 from the playground caretaker account to the city solicitor's account for the payment of Attorney Emmitt L. Cris for legal services performed in the case of George Bidinger vs. the City of Circleville.

Transfer of $125 from the playground caretaker account to the Forest Cemetery account to pay for the taking care of ground in section 42 of the cemetery.

A third ordinance passed authorized the Board of Public Utilities to enter into a contract for engineering services to meet requirements set forth by the State Water Pollution Control Board.

A permit issued by the state board in September granted the city privilege to empty treated sewage into the Scioto River. However, the city must comply with requirements for this authorization.

In compliance, the city is required to employ the services of an engineering firm to evaluate the local sewage treatment plant to determine its capabilities.

Council authorized a contract with Burgess & Niple of Columbus. The cost was set at $1,000.

Farmer Union Sees Income Soaring High

MARION, Ohio (AP)—A National Farmers Union (NFU) official says net income for the nation's farmers this year is expected to soar to the highest level since 1953.

Richard Shipman says it will be the result of new Kennedy Administration policies backed by the NFU.

Shipman, assistant director of NFU's division of legislative services, made the statement at a meeting Monday night of the Marion County Farmers Union.

He said net income of the nation's farm operators this year "is now expected to total around a billion dollars more than the $11.7 billion estimated for 1960."

He said Ohio farmers will benefit by about $88.2 million this year as a result of administration farm programs passed by Congress.

This can be broken down thus: About $38 million to the more than 61,000 Ohio farmers who retired a million acres of land from production of corn and grain sorghum and into land conserving uses. (About half this sum was advanced this spring, and the remainder will be distributed upon completion of harvest this fall, Shipman said.)

About $50,346,000 more to Ohio farmers as a result of higher commodity price supports placed in effect by the secretary of agriculture.

Gop Gives Aid to Stork

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—When Patrolman John Drossman was summoned to the scene of a traffic accident, he arrived in time to help deliver a 7-pound 8-ounce boy for Mrs. Wille G. Marshall, enroute to the hospital.

Vo-Ag Students List Projects

The Fox Chapter of the Future Farmers of America and the Vocational Agriculture classes of Jackson Twp. School have conducted several special projects recently.

The junior and senior classes have made complete studies of the operation, adjustment and maintenance of combines and corn pickers while operating in the field.

Field losses were calculated, the causes determined and adjustments to correct the causes were made.

A study of electricity was conducted in the classroom. A wiring demonstration board was studied to learn wiring procedures and material needed.

The classes, under the supervision of their instructor installed wiring lights and switches in a barn on the Dudson farm as a test of their learning.

The Business Procedure Team demonstrated their abilities by conducting a meeting recently at Hilliard, O.

The FFA's next project for community service will be a pest hunt to be scheduled in the near future.

Solons Approve Intentions To Appropriate Easements

City Council last night adopted two resolutions calling for intentions to appropriate easements in land for contemplated sewer projects.

One of the appropriating easements deals with the sanitary sewerage system in the Walnut Creek Pike area and the other with the Sanitary Sewer District No. 2 project in the north and northeast section of the city. Both resolutions were adopted under suspension of rules and by affirmative votes of all seven councilmen.

Eight parcels of land are involved in the Walnut Creek Pike measure. Four parcels are listed in the Sewer District No. 2 resolution.

According to the resolutions, permanent and temporary work easements are needed across the land

Vo-Ag Students List Projects

The Fox Chapter of the Future Farmers of America and the Vocational Agriculture classes of Jackson Twp. School have conducted several special projects recently.

The junior and senior classes have made complete studies of the operation, adjustment and maintenance of combines and corn pickers while operating in the field.

Field losses were calculated, the causes determined and adjustments to correct the causes were made.

A study of electricity was conducted in the classroom. A wiring demonstration board was studied to learn wiring procedures and material needed.

The classes, under the supervision of their instructor installed wiring lights and switches in a barn on the Dudleson farm as a test of their learning.

The Business Procedure Team demonstrated their abilities by conducting a meeting recently at Hilliard, O.

The FFA's next project for community service will be a pest hunt to be scheduled in the near future.

in question in order to construct the sewerage systems.

SEVEN of the eight parcels of land in the Walnut Creek Pike area, recently annexed by the city, are owned by Orin L. and Mabel Bircher. The other is the property of Frank and Geneva Woodward.

Parcels in the District No. 2 coverage are owned by Virginia Replogle, Russell and Elsie Williams, Ida Kraft Rader and Paul Frenk and Rose Friesner.

Other property owners in both areas have agreed to easement terms offered by the city. According to Council, all owners have previously been approached.

Through the resolutions, Council stated that it is deemed necessary to appropriate the easements for the purpose of and the right to construct, repair, maintain operate and inspect sewer lines as a part of the sewerage systems in both territories.

The declaration for intent of appropriation was to take effect immediately upon passage of the resolutions. Owners were to be notified by direction of the mayor.

Reviewing the current easement problems, Councilman Joe Bell said action in Sewer District No. 2 is urgently needed. He again stressed the point that the new Nicholas Drive Elementary School will be dependent on the sewerage facilities. The building is due to open in September of 1962.

IN OTHER legislative action, the lawmakers passed two ordinances calling for the transfer of money. They were:

Transfer of $827.50 from the playground caretaker account to the city solicitor's account for the payment of Attorney Emmitt L. Cris for legal services performed in the case of George Bidingir vs the City of Circleville.

Transfer of $125 from the playground caretaker account to the Forest Cemetery account to pay for the taking care of ground in section 42 of the cemetery.

A third ordinance passed authorized the Board of Public Utilities to enter into a contract for engineering services to meet requirements set forth by the State Water Pollution Control Board.

A permit issued by the state board in September granted the city privilege to empty treated sewage into the Scioto River. However, the city must comply with requirements for this authorization.

In compliance, the city is required to employ the services of an engineering firm to evaluate the local sewage treatment plant to determine its capabilities.

Council authorized a contract with Burgess & Niple of Columbus. The cost was set at $1,000.

Farmer Union Sees Income Soaring High

MARION, Ohio (AP)—A National Farmers Union (NFU) official says net income for the nation's farmers this year is expected to soar to the highest level since 1953.

Richard Shipman says it will be the result of new Kennedy Administration policies backed by the NFU.

Shipman, assistant director of NFU's division of legislative services, made the statement at a meeting Monday night of the Marion County Farmers Union.

He said net income of the nation's farm operators this year "is now expected to total around a billion dollars more than the $11.7 billion estimated for 1960."

He said Ohio farmers will benefit by about $88.2 million this year as a result of administration farm programs passed by Congress.

This can be broken down thus:

About $38 million to the more than 61,000 Ohio farmers who retired a million acres of land from production of corn and grain sorghum and into land conserving uses. (About half this sum was advanced this spring, and the remainder will be distributed upon completion of harvest this fall, Shipman said.)

About $50,346,000 more to Ohio farmers as a result of higher commodity price supports placed in effect by the secretary of agriculture.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Forget Him, Honey!

DEAR ABBY: I was practically engaged to a college boy of 19. I am 16. Everything was going along great until I found out he had been seeing two other girls. I asked him to explain himself but he didn't seem to want to, so I told him we were through.

I thought sure he'd call me up and apologize, but he hasn't called me yet, and it's been over two months. Should I write him a letter and ask him to call me? I think he really wants me back but has too much pride to call.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: I doubt if he has too much pride. He's probably having too much fun. Don't write him. Write him off.

Death Plane's Fuel System Found Fouled

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board investigator disclosed Tuesday that reddish-brown foreign matter was found in parts of the salvaged fuel system of the Imperial Airlines plane that crashed here Nov. 8 with a loss of 77 persons—all but three of them young Army recruits.

The investigator, Frank T. Taylor, said an examination of the fuel injection nozzles from the four engines of the Constellation indicated many contained "a foreign matter," some of which was magnetic material.

He told a CAB hearing the reddish-brown substance, also found in the engine filters, has been submitted to the FBI for laboratory tests.

The pilot of the aircraft, Ronald H. Conway of West Hollywood, Fla., one of two survivors of the flaming crash, said two of the plane's engines were out and another failing when the aircraft fell in a woody marshland short of a Byrd Field runway.

At the opening of the two-day hearing Conway said he didn't know he was to be in command of the flight until he boarded the plane at Columbia, S.C. He said he entered a plan for the troop-carrying flight in the name of Capt. James Greenlee. Greenlee, the copilot, was among the victims.

Punished Girls Give Definition Of Ideal Lady

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The composite of an ideal young lady was drawn from themes of five girls ranging in age from 13 to 15 who were assigned to write 2,000 word compositions on the subject.

The assignment was given by Judge Juanita Kidd Stout several weeks ago after the girls were brought before her on charges of beating and stabbing another girl.

Judge Stout disclosed the contents:

"A lady does not expose her private affairs, feelings or innermost thoughts.

"A young lady should never be found in alleys, on street corners, in a penitentiary, in a youth study center, in a courtroom, in bars.

"A lady should not wear a skirt so tight it looks like your skin.

"She won't try to sneak out of the house when she knows everyone is asleep.

"You will not see a lady with a gang of boys standing on the corner drinking some kind of alcohol.

"Puppy love is serious to a young lady. It should be respected by parents, brothers and sisters because it can be a painful aspect.

"Young ladies do not send threats to other girls."

Million Plus Found Strewn Around House

NEW YORK (AP)—State tax agents searching the home of the late Mrs. Katherine Geddes Benedict found $1,060,000 "strewn all over the house," the Journal American said today.

It said the fortune, consisting of negotiable and nonnegotiable bonds and $60,000 in cash, was discovered "under beds, in closets, even behind the kitchen sink."

Mrs. Benedict was the grandmother of Gamble Benedict, who eloped with Andre Porumbeanu despite the grandmother's attempts to block their marriage.

It took the taxmen a whole day to retrieve all the money and securities, then another day for the "cleanup," which turned up a few more thousands of dollars, this batch from behind the kitchen sink, the newspaper said.

It said the discovery was made Nov. 3 when agents entered the Upper East Side mansion with a search order signed by Surrogate S. Samuel DiFalco.

The securities and money were turned over to the surrogate's office for safekeeping.

Mrs. Benedict, widow of a typewriter manufacturer who amassed a fortune, died Oct. 29.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I dine out with friends, he will frequently say, "Aren't you going to eat your potato?" Or, "If you don't want to finish your dessert, I'll take it." He is always finishing up someone's salad or steak, and behaving like a human garbage pail in general. He is an executive with a good family background, so don't tell me he doesn't know better. I don't mind his cleaning up my plate at home, but when we are out in public it becomes embarrassing. How can I stop him?

EMBARRASSED DEAR ABBY: Tell this "vacuum cleaner with teeth" that unless he stays out of other people's plates, you'll refuse to eat out with him.

DEAR ABBY: Our hearts are breaking with grief. Our beautiful 16-year-old daughter ran away and got married. When they came to tell us we said things in our hurt and anger that we meant at the time, but regret now. They had promised they would wait until she graduated from high school. We had so much faith in them that we kept our home open to this man. We liked him so much. He is over 21. Now we don't even know where our daughter is. She has quit school. They won't even let us apologize. The boy called and told us to stop trying to get in touch with them because they never want to see us again. We just want to know that our daughter is well and happy. Sixteen is so young. What can we do?

HEART-BROKEN PARENTS DEAR PARENTS: Wait. Your daughter will call you.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

Players Stage Production of 'Lace' Friday

A strange combination — Arsenic and Old Lace — is being blended into an evening of unconventional entertainment in the most enjoyable form of dramatic art by the Pickaway Players.

Unconventional is a mild term to apply to a delightful group of little old ladies who involve themselves in a group of not-so-delightful little old murders—all for fun, of course.

The production is scheduled for Friday at 8:15 p. m. in the Walnut Twp. High School auditorium. Tickets are available from any Player cast member or at the door.

Cast as the madcap murderesses are Mrs. Robert Young and Mrs. James Stallings. Mrs. Young, Route 1, Circleville, is a graduate of Pickaway Twp. High School and held the female lead in the Player's production of "Solid Gold Cadillac" last year. Mrs. Stallings 1072 Georgia Rd., is a Richmond, Va., native and attended Randolph-Macon College as a French major.

WHILE IN college she held the leading roles in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" and Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit". Mrs. Robert Young plays Martha while Mrs. Stallings portrays Abby.

Robert Ransom, who gives an interesting interpretation of the role of Mortimer, is in his fourth year as speech and drama coach at Circleville High School. He is a graduate of Muskingum College. He is to be remembered for his lead in "Sorry, Wrong Number."

Prediction Quadrupled

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — When the Great Smoky Mountains National Park was established in 1933, National Park Service Director Horace M. Albright predicted it would eventually attract one million visitors a year.

Albright, who left the Park Service in 1933, returned recently for a visit and admitted his sights 30 years ago were too low. The park attracted more than four million persons last year.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most long-winded discussions in history—on how to ban nuclear weapon tests — is about to get longer. The talks are scheduled to begin in Geneva next Tuesday. Only an optimist could believe there will be any agreement.

These talks have been, and will be, like a slow waltz with part of the orchestra missing. The present nuclear powers—the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—will be the ones doing the discussing.

Missing will be France, which already has developed atomic power and tested it, and Red China, which may be in the nuclear weapon business before long.

On and off for 16 years—the United States in 1945 first proposed control over atomic weapons—this country and the Soviet Union, and later Britain, have talked, and bumbled, and stumbled about it. The last talks truly ended in an explosion.

They began Nov. 1, 1958 and hemmed and hawed for almost three years along with a voluntary halt to testing by the Big Three for the same period. On Aug. 30 Premier Khrushchev announced the Soviet Union would end the moratorium and resume testing.

So the talks broke up Sept. 9. In the meantime the Soviet Union has had at least 31 tests in the atmosphere. This country has resumed testing underground and hasn't said it won't try it in the atmosphere, too.

With much of the rest of the world shocked by this Fourth of July display by the two nuclear giants, this country and Britain on Nov. 13 proposed to the Soviet Union that the test-ban talks be resumed.

And now the Soviet Union, which has done about all the testing it needs for the present, agreed. This is the more remarkable for what the Soviets said they thought of test-ban talks even before the last talks ended.

They argued just talking about banning nuclear weapon tests was not enough. They demanded these talks be made part of a discussion, under sponsorship of the United Nations, on "general and complete disarmament."

Now they've agreed to resume just talking about a test ban on nuclear weapons.

If the Big Three ever reached an agreement on this it's possible France might go along although it isn't taking part in the discussion. But there's absolutely no assurance Red China would.

The Chinese Communists could not be bound by some agreement in which they have no part. Nevertheless, this roughly is what the American-British proposals to the Soviet Union call for:

1. Agreement by the Big Three to set up control posts in their countries—manned by outsiders—to prevent any cheating on a test ban.

2. Then control posts would be set up in other important countries — particularly those bordering on the big nuclear powers—like Red China.

3. Then control posts would be extended to other countries around the world. The idea calls for setting up a total of 180 such control posts by the end of six years after the Big Three reach agreement.

Unless this was done—for instance, if Red China refused to let any outsiders establish control posts inside her borders—the agreement wouldn't be binding on the Big Three.

It may be only a few years before Red China has developed its own nuclear power. Since she is not completely happy with her Soviet neighbor, and not at all happy with the United States, she might refuse to observe the agreement which, after all, she took no part in.

What then? That's an unpleasant thought. Meanwhile the Big Three — with the rest of the non-nuclear world looking on—can at least say they've been talking, whether or not it does any good.

MURDER ON THEIR MINDS — In a gay sort of way this trio consorts over the murder of the day. It's all part of the Pickaway Players' production of "Arsenic and Old Lace" being staged at 8:15 p. m. Friday in Walnut Twp. High School auditorium. Left to right: Mrs. Robert Young, Robert Ransom and Mrs. James Stallings.

Players Stage Production of 'Lace' Friday

A strange combination — Arsenic and Old Lace — is being blended into an evening of unconventional entertainment in the most enjoyable form of dramatic art by the Pickaway Players.

Unconventional is a mild term to apply to a delightful group of little old ladies who involve themselves in a group of not-so-delightful little old murders—all for fun, of course.

The production is scheduled for Friday at 8:15 p. m. in the Walnut Twp. High School auditorium. Tickets are available from any Player cast member or at the door.

Cast as the madcap murderesses are Mrs. Robert Young and Mrs. James Stallings. Mrs. Young, Route 1, Circleville, is a graduate of Pickaway Twp. High School and held the female lead in the Player's production of "Solid Gold Cadillac" last year. Mrs. Stallings 1072 Georgia Rd., is a Richmond, Va., native and attended Randolph-Macon College as a French major.

While in college she held the leading roles in Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" and Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit". Mrs. Robert Young plays Martha while Mrs. Stallings portrays Abbey.

Robert Ransom, who gives an interesting interpretation of the role of Mortimer, is in his fourth year as speech and drama coach at Circleville High School. He is a graduate of Muskingum College. He is to be remembered for his lead in "Sorry, Wrong Number."

Prediction Quadrupled

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — When the Great Smoky Mountains National Park was established in 1931, National Park Service Director Horace M. Albright predicted it would eventually attract one million visitors a year.

Albright, who left the Park Service in 1933, returned recently for a visit and admitted his sights 30 years ago were too low. The park attracted more than four million persons last year.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most long-winded discussions in history—on how to ban nuclear weapon tests — is about to get longer. The talks are scheduled to begin in Geneva next Tuesday. Only an optimist could believe there will be any agreement.

These talks have been, and will be, like a slow waltz with part of the orchestra missing. The present nuclear powers—the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union—will be the ones doing the discussing.

Missing will be France, which already has developed atomic power and tested it, and Red China, which may be in the nuclear weapon business before long.

On and off for 16 years—the United States in 1945 first proposed control over atomic weapons—this country and the Soviet Union, and later Britain, have talked, and bumbled, and stumbled about it. The last talks truly ended in an explosion.

They began Nov. 1, 1958 and hemmed and hawed for almost three years along with a voluntary halt to testing by the Big Three for the same period. On Aug. 30 Premier Khrushchev announced the Soviet Union would end the moratorium and resume testing.

So the talks broke up Sept. 9. In the meantime the Soviet Union has had at least 31 tests in the atmosphere. This country has resumed testing underground and hasn't said it won't try it in the atmosphere, too.

With much of the rest of the world shocked by this Fourth of July display by the two nuclear giants, this country and Britain on Nov. 13 proposed to the Soviet Union that the test-ban talks be resumed.

And now the Soviet Union, which has done about all the testing it needs for the present, agreed. This is the more remarkable for what the Soviets said they thought of test-ban talks even before the last talks ended.

They argued just talking about banning nuclear weapon tests was not enough. They demanded these talks be made part of a discussion, under sponsorship of the United Nations, on "general and complete disarmament."

Now they've agreed to resume just talking about a test ban on nuclear weapons.

If the Big Three ever reached an agreement on this it's possible France might go along although it isn't taking part in the discussion. But there's absolutely no assurance Red China would.

The Chinese Communists could not be bound by some agreement in which they have no part. Nevertheless, this roughly is what the American-British proposals to the Soviet Union call for:

1. Agreement by the Big Three to set up control posts in their countries—manned by outsiders—to prevent any cheating on a test ban.

2. Then control posts would be set up in other important countries — particularly those bordering on the big nuclear powers—like Red China.

3. Then control posts would be extended to other countries around the world. The idea calls for setting up a total of 180 such control posts by the end of six years after the Big Three reach agreement.

Unless this was done—for instance, if Red China refused to let any outsiders establish control posts inside her borders—the agreement wouldn't be binding on the Big Three.

It may be only a few years before Red China has developed its own nuclear power. Since she is not completely happy with her Soviet neighbor, and not at all happy with the United States, she might refuse to observe the agreement which, after all, she took no part in.

What then? That's an unpleasant thought. Meanwhile the Big Three — with the rest of the non-nuclear world looking on—can at least say they've been talking, whether or not it does any good.

Last Quarter Scoring Gives Darby Victory

A 19-point spurge in the last quarter led by Kermit Barnes and Charles Brown gave Darby's Trojans their second win of the cage season against two losses, 48-42, last night over visiting Bremen.

Like elevators on opposing tracks, Darby kept edging upward throughout the game while Bremen rode downhill. The Trojans were down 13-8 at the end of the first period but had nipped the margin to 21-20 by the end of the first half.

In the third stanza the hosts outscored Bremen by one point to move into a 29-21 deadlock. Then came the deciding last period.

Garnes bucketed most of his eight markers on short jump shots from the side of the basket during the quarter while Brown plopped in all five of his foul tosses plus one field goal to lead the attack. Darwin Conley kept Darby in contention during the first half, scoring 14 of his 18 points in the opening two periods. Kelley topped Bremen's attack with 15 counters on seven goals and one charity throw.

Bremen collected a 36-29 triumph in the reserve contest. The varsity scrap was the Fairfield Countians first game of the year. Tonight Darby goes to Pleasant View to inaugurate the Panthers hoop season.

Packers, Lions To Clash in Turkey Game

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions will have a gimmick. But the Green Bay Packers will have P.T. Paul Hornung.

The U.S. Army is giving the National Football League's leading scorer back to the Packers for their Thanksgiving Day showdown clash with the Lions.

Green Bay, leading the Lions by 1½ games in the tightened Western Division scramble, also will be bolstered by soldier-players Ray Nitschke and Boyd Dowler. The second-place Lions will be strengthened by the return of John Gordy.

Thursday's battle will be nationally televised (CBS, 12 noon EST) and will lure a sellout crowd bettering 53,000 into Tiger Stadium.

An Army spokesman said Hornung had received a holiday pass and would leave Fort Riley, Kan., today.

Coach George Wilson of the Lions said he received word the other soldiers would fly here from Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Wilson, fed up with the Lions inability to win at Tiger Stadium, sought—and received—permission to have his players wear road uniforms against the Packers. Five of Detroit's six victories occurred in road games when the Lions wore white shirts.

Deers Gain 4th Victory, 68-62

Eight successful foul shots in the last quarter paved the way for Williamsport to gain its fourth win against one defeat last night as the Deers downed The Plains of Mt. Sterling 68-62 in the Williamsport gymnasium.

Both squads collected 29 field goals in a game that saw the Deers pull away to a 10-point lead at the half only to be battled down to the wire in the final stanza. Bruce Willis paced the winners with 16 markers on six field successes and four tosses from the foul line.

Backing up Willis were Don Steinhauer with 14 tallies on a half dozen buckets and two foul tosses and Richard Gerhardt who put through 11 points. Dan Haensel, a 6'4" offensive threat, and Gary Jones topped Mt. Sterling's attack. Haensel pushed through 18 points, most of them tips, while Jones worked over the nets for a round 20 markers on nine field goals and two foul points.

Williamsport hit 40 per cent from the field and 10 of 19 at the foul stripe. The Deers out-rebounded The Plains 35 to 22. In the reserve tilt Williamsport outlasted Mt. Sterling for a 51-32 triumph as Rick Fenstermaker scored 24 points.

Grid Czar Cancels Disputed Draft

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League has cancelled the controversial secret draft that had the colleges up in arms and officials of the National League making side remarks.

In a telephone call to The Associated Press from Washington early today, Foss said he was exercising his power as commissioner and declaring the draft null and void.

The draft, called a poll for negotiation by the club owners, came two weeks before the official draft of the AFL, set by Foss for Dec. 2 in cooperation with the American Football Coaches Association.

Statistically Walnut had the better of it. Coach Paul Reiss had four men in double figures while Anderson's six field goals and four foul shots made up the only Amanda-Clearcreek score. The two teams each pushed through a dozen charity tosses but Walnut was nipped 20-19 in field goal success.

The Tigers had difficulty getting started and were down 15-4 at the end of the opening period. A comeback led by Larry Liest and Mike Neff along with Duane Sheets and Gary Ferguson brought the Walnut cagers to within five points of their adversaries at the half, 27-22.

Walnut continued to whittle the AC advantage through the third stanza, outscoring their hosts 14-13 to make the score 40-36 going into the last quarter. For the third straight period Walnut recorded the most points, taking a 14-12 advantage. The drive fell two points short, though, as the buzzer sounded to end the tilt.

In the preliminary Amanda-Clearcreek locked up a 37-20 victory as Cole tallied nine points. Brady hit 14 for the losers to top the game.

Three Yankees hit above .300 last season. Ellie Howard batted .348, Mickey Mantle .317 and John Blanchard .306.

AC Five Edges Bengals, 52-50

Walnut's Tigers gave Amanda-Clearcreek some uneasy moments in a cage contest last night on the AC home court but could never quite pull ahead, losing 52-50 to an attack dominated by Anderson's 16-point scoring spree.

Statistically Walnut had the better of it. Coach Paul Reiss had four men in double figures while Anderson's six field goals and four foul shots made up the only Amanda-Clearcreek score. The two teams each pushed through a dozen charity tosses but Walnut was nipped 20-19 in field goal success.

TCU End Tagged Lineman of Week

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — "I'm not much good at talkin'," says Texas Christian University end Buddy lies, "but that touch-down pass was the greatest thrill of my life—ever."

The modest 21-year-old senior, selected Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press Tuesday, spoke quietly of the 50-yard pass from Sonny Gibbs that upset Texas Saturday 6-0.

Buddy hauled in the pass on the Texas eight and battled into the end zone for the touchdown that snapped an eight-game Texas winning streak and tumbled the Longhorns from their ranking of the nation's No. 1 team.

Baldwin-Wallace Ranks 2nd in U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The all-winning Pittsburgh (Kan.) Gorillas, who rolled up 299 points and yielded but 25 in sweeping all of their nine games, were chosen today as the top small college football team in the nation in the final Associated Press poll of the season.

Deers Gain 4th Victory, 68-62

Eight successful foul shots in the last quarter paved the way for Williamsport to gain its fourth win against one defeat last night as the Deers downed The Plains of Mt. Sterling 68-62 in the Williamsport gymnasium.

Both squads collected 29 field goals in a game that saw the Deers pull away to a 10-point lead at the half only to be battled down to the wire in the final stanza. Bruce Willis paced the winners with 16 markers on six field successes and four tosses from the foul line.

Backing up Willis were Don Steinhauer with 14 tallies on a half dozen buckets and two foul tosses and Richard Gerhardt who put through 11 points. Dan Haensel, a 6'4" offensive threat, and Gary Jones topped Mt. Sterling's attack. Haensel pushed through 18 points, most of them tip-ins, while Jones worked over the nets for a round 20 markers on nine field goals and two foul points.

Grid Czar Cancels Disputed Draft

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League has cancelled the controversial secret draft that had the colleges up in arms and officials of the National League making snide remarks.

In a telephone call to The Associated Press from Washington early today, Foss said he was exercising his power as commissioner and declaring the draft null and void.

The draft, called a ploy for negotiation by the club owners, came two weeks before the official draft of the AFL, set by Foss for Dec. 2 in cooperation with the American Football Coaches Association.

AC Five Edges Bengals, 52-50

Walnut's Tigers gave Amanda-Clearcreek some uneasy moments in a cage contest last night on the AC home court but could never quite pull ahead, losing 52-50 to an attack dominated by Anderson's 16-point scoring spree.

Statistically Walnut had the better of it. Coach Paul Reiss had four men in double figures while Anderson's six field goals and four foul shots made up the only Amanda-Clearcreek scoring effort. The two teams each pushed through a dozen charity tosses but Walnut was nipped 20-19 in field goal success.

The Tigers had difficulty getting started and were down 15-4 at the end of the opening period. A comeback led by Larry Liest and Mike Neff along with Duane Sheets and Gary Ferguson brought the Walnut cagers to within five points of their adversaries at the half, 27-22.

Walnut continued to whittle the AC advantage through the third stanza, outscoring their hosts 14-13 to make the score 40-36 going into the last quarter. For the third straight period Walnut recorded the most points, taking a 14-12 advantage. The drive fell two points short, though, as the buzzer sounded to end the tilt.

In the preliminary Amanda-Clearcreek locked up a 37-20 victory as Cole tallied nine points. Brady hit 14 for the losers to top the game.

Notre Dame Shrugs at View It Won Grid Game Illegally

CHICAGO (AP) — Notre Dame has a 17-15 victory over Syracuse in last Saturday's controversial football game but Syracuse is claiming a 15-14 victory over the Irish.

Commissioners Bill Reed of the Big Ten and Asa Bushnell of the Eastern College Athletics Conference issued a joint statement Tuesday that the game officials erred in allowing the Irish an extra play after time ran out in which Joe Perkowski booted a 41-yard field goal to wipe out the 15-14 Syracuse lead and give Notre Dame a 17-15 triumph.

Notre Dame shrugged aside the commissioners' statement as "ambiguous and illogical."

Vast Change Is Seen in 1961 Giants

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns' foes here Sunday, the New York Giants, look a good deal different from the Giants the Browns beat 48-34 last year.

The Giants' new look is made up of rookies, players obtained in trades, rehabilitated veterans and even a new head coach — Allie Sherman. The main improvement in the face-lifting has been the addition of former San Francisco quarterback Y.A. Tittle and Los Angeles receiver Del Shofner.

Tittle, acquired in a trade for Lou Cordileone, is in fifth place among passers in the National Football League. Tittle's performance has put veteran quarterback Charley Conerly on the bench in recent games.

Shofner is second among NFL receivers with 51 catches for 812 yards and eight touchdowns.

Completing the new talent are receiver Joe Walton; defensive back Eric Barnes; rookie offensive linemen Mickey Walker from Michigan State and Greg Larson from Minnesota; halfback Bob Gaiters from New Mexico State and defensive back Allan Webb from Arnold College.

Back with the Giants is veteran back Alex Webster and defense man Andy Robustelli. Webster is fourth in the league in rushing with 672 yards in 132 carries. Robustelli has been a leader on defense.

Estate of Carrie E. Queen Deceased
Notice is hereby given that Harlan S. Casill whose Post Office address is 679 Beechwood St., Chillicothe, Ohio has been duly appointed Executor of the Estate of Carrie E. Queen late of Pickaway County, Ohio, deceased.

Dated this 30th day of October 1961.
GUY G. CLINE
Judge of the Probate Court
Pickaway County, Ohio
Nov. 9, 16, 22.

Syracuse athletic director Lew Andreas said: "We believe absolutely Syracuse won the game 15-14."

That's the way matters stand. But Walter Byers, executive director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said the matter should be settled by the institutions involved in consultation with the commissioners and Gen. Bob Neyland, Tennessee athletic director and chairman of the NCAA Rules Committee. The Rules Committee, said Byers, is the final authority on interpretation of the rules.

Syracuse had hopes that the NCAA would rule on the matter. But, according to Byers' statement, this is not the NCAA's problem.

Notre Dame is in no mood to concede the victory to Syracuse in the manner which Cornell did to Dartmouth in the 1940 season. In that game, Cornell apparently had won 7-3 by scoring a touchdown on the game's final play.

Two days later referee Red Friesdell discovered he had permitted Cornell a fifth down on which the game ending touchdown was scored.

Syracuse had a 15-14 lead over Notre Dame when the Irish tried a field goal by Perkowski with three seconds to play. The attempt was short but a roughing the kicker penalty was called. Syracuse was penalized 15 yards, although time had run out, and Notre Dame was given another shot. This time Perkowski made good.

The controversy began Sunday long after Gus Skibbie, head linesman from Bowling Green, Ohio, supplied by the Big Ten, had called the roughing penalty.

Under the interpretations of Reed, Bushnell and others, the NCAA ruling is "a foul during the kick, including roughing the kicker, will not extend the period as the ball is not in (the kicking team's) possession."

Players 'Wired' for Sound Probe Cause of Grid Hurts

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Correspondent
CHICAGO, Ill. — Athletes "wired" remotely for sound may give the big answers to what is causing football injuries and even some deaths throughout the nation.

In Northwestern University's concluding football game this fall there may be several players "wearing" tiny FM transmitters in their helmets, which automatically will transmit data to the sidelines concerning the shocks that are encountered under actual game conditions.

The electronic data will be carefully recorded by Dr. Stephen Reid, Northwestern team physician and chairman of an American Medical Association committee looking into the adequacy of football headgear.

He will be assisted by James Aagaard, Northwestern professor of electrical engineering, who is handling the electronics technicalities. Financial support for the expensive venture comes from Northwestern's Medical School and Evanston, Ill., Hospital research funds.

DR. REID is quick to point out that, considering the huge increase in the number of football participants in recent years, he and the committee are far from considering the current football casualty totals as an all-out crisis for the sport, and that they also consider that most of the equipment now in use is safe.

However, any injuries and deaths are considered tragic and something to be filtered out of the sport's experience completely, if possible.

A committee of the American Football Coaches Association, headed by Dr. Richard C. Schneider of the University of Michigan, has been laboriously compiling data on 208 direct football fatalities since 1947, and it notes "slowly progressive trend away from USING elaborate electronics equipment, scientists are going to the source of injuries to athletes. Note inset showing belt weighing less than a pound that records every shock on "console" type reader on the sidelines.

abdominal and internal injuries and a corresponding increase in head and spinal cord injuries."

Also there seems to be an increasing incidence of deaths from hidden congenital causes, such as heart and respiratory conditions which escape detection in the ordinary physical examinations, and aside from the exertions involved ought not to be charged to football directly. By making athletes into "human transmitters" it is hoped that these riddles also will be solved.

Drs. Reid and Aagaard emphasize that their work is not to be confused with the wave of devices built several years ago for the purpose of transmitting information from the bench to the field on game strategy, which now is largely in disrepute.

Their device will be much more sensitive and will automatically beam "subjective" information known only by the body itself to special receivers.

It will be more akin to the remarkable electronic belt and recording machine which Prof. Hal F. Shulte Jr., of the University of Michigan has used to record heart action during games, and the thimble-sized radio transmitter, weighing less than an ounce, which Drs. William Cochran and Rexford D. Lord Jr., of the University of Illinois are using to probe the most private activities of rabbits, raccoons, opossums, pheasants and mallard ducks.

THE MINIATURE transmitters are borne by the wild things without any visible discomfort, and it has even been suggested that the devices might be made into "riding baby sitters" to keep track of toddling children. It is thought that they will not hobble athletes at all.

By measuring the direction of a steady tone, the scientists now know that a wild rabbit usually sticks to a habitat of 6-8 acres; feeds in any one night within only about two acres, and really "works" overtime at this feeding, putting in a hard 14-hour stint from when he starts moving about at 5 p. m. to when he retires to his burrow at about 7 a. m.

Signals are distinct from half a mile away, and on ducks flying half a mile high, Illinois State Natural History Survey experts can track them for 60 miles, so it will be a snap to tune in" on athlete's reflexes from the bench.

Dr. Shulte's "magic belt" at the University of Michigan has led to discovery that healthy, well-trained athletes under the stress of actual play have hearts that often race up to beats of 160 to 180 per minute, from a normal 60-80 for a resting heart, which is far faster than was formerly thought likely.

Since ordinary physical examinations had no correlation with the skyrocketing heart beats and breathing of some athletes, it is believed that cardiac casualties might be limited greatly by such checks "under field conditions."

The Shulte belt weighs less than a pound and transmits to a "console type" receiver on the sidelines. Also, instead of wires under the skin, it functions with two electrodes just pasted on, which eliminates another problem in adapting it to football.

putting in a hard 14-hour stint from when he starts moving about at 5 p. m. to when he retires to his burrow at about 7 a. m.

Signals are distinct from half a mile away, and on ducks flying half a mile high, Illinois State Natural History Survey experts can track them for 60 miles, so it will be a snap to tune in on athlete's reflexes from the bench.

Dr. Shulte's "magic belt" at the University of Michigan has led to discovery that healthy, well-trained athletes under the stress of actual play have hearts that often race up to beats of 160 to 180 per minute, from a normal 60-80 for a resting heart, which is far faster than was formerly thought likely.

Since ordinary physical examinations had no correlation with the skyrocketing heart beats and breathing of some athletes, it is believed that cardiac casualties might be limited greatly by such checks "under field conditions."

The Shulte belt weighs less than a pound and transmits to a "console type" receiver on the sidelines. Also, instead of wires under the skin, it functions with two electrodes just pasted on, which eliminates another problem in adapting it to football.

In Memoriam

In loving Memory of our dear son and brother, Gary Lee Cook, who was killed two years ago yesterday, November 21, 1960.

This day brings sad memories of our loved one gone to rest. And those who loved him each day. As the ones who loved him best. No one knows the silent heartaches. Only those who have lost can tell. Of the grief we bear in silence. For the one we loved so well. Some may think you are forgotten. Though on earth you are no more. But in our hearts a memory is kept. Of one we loved and will never forget. Not one day do we forget you. In our hearts you're always near. As if you were so very close. Sadly missed by Mother and Father, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cook Sr., Sisters—Lois and Brenda, Brothers—Jack and Clyde Jr.

U.S. Icebreaker Rams toward Pole

ABOARD ICEBREAKER GLACIER (AP)—This mighty U.S. Navy vessel today smelled victory in its battle to make history's earliest convoy penetration of the formidable antarctic ice pack and relieve a crucial shortage of aviation fuel plaguing America's scientific task force on the polar continent.

Crashing through ice up to 10

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bargain-hunting housewives have an extra reason for being thankful this Thanksgiving Day—turkeys are selling at the lowest prices in 10 years.

Supermarkets and neighborhood stores are amply stocked with the traditional holiday birds.

Turkeys are selling at an average of 29 cents a pound for birds weighing 18 pounds and up, 33 cents for 10 to 17-pound birds and 39 cents for birds under 10 pounds. This is 10 cents a pound cheaper than last year.

Cranberries are in good supply and have been given a clean bill of health.

For those who aren't turkey fanciers, hams and roasts are being widely advertised.

A great variety of vegetables and fruits is available to round out the holiday menu.

Best buys on the vegetable counters are broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, Chinese cabbage, eggplant, endive, escarole, Romaine and iceberg lettuce, eastern onions and potatoes, parsnip, turnips, rutabaga, peppers, radishes, spinach, acorn and butternut squash, and golden and white sweet potatoes.

In the good-buy classification are nearby anise, beans, beets, brussels sprouts, carrots, celery, corn, cucumbers, green onions and leaks, mushrooms, western Spanish onions and russet potatoes, parsley, green Italian and yellow straight neck squash, Puerto Rico potatoes and greens.

Best fruit buys are apples, cranberries, and Florida oranges and grapefruit.

Good buys include avocados, limes, pears and grapes. For the nut dish there are chestnuts.

Oral Cancer Detection Bared

DETROIT (AP)—A new method of detecting oral cancer was explained Monday at the Detroit District Dental Society's 20th annual dental review.

Dr. Donald B. Smith, chief of oral surgery at Veterans Hospital in Dearborn, Mich., said a painless scraping of a suspected oral cancer and a quick study of the cells can determine rapidly the presence of cancer in the mouth.

Painless and easy to do, the scraping will detect mouth cancers in the very early stages, when the cure rate can run between 75 and 100 per cent, Dr. Smith said.

feet thick, the Glacier had only 7½ miles to go to free a pathway for a tanker bearing a million gallons of precious fuel.

Followed by two cargo ships, the Glacier and two smaller icebreakers have fought through 600 miles of ice in the 2,000-mile trip from New Zealand. The commander of the unit, Capt. Edwin McDonald, a veteran of antarctic exploration, said prospects look excellent for the Glacier to reach its objective almost three weeks earlier than the United States or any other nation has ever ripped out a convoy trail through the thick ice that forms around the continent every winter.

McDonald said the achievement would probably open the way to annual early invasions of the ice pack by cargo ships, greatly reducing the need for expensive and potentially dangerous use of aircraft to get annual summer operations started.

Since late September huge Globemasters have made more than 70 cargo flights between New Zealand and Antarctica, and there have been trips by other planes as well. Getting cargo ships through the ice early will save the Navy hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, McDonald said.

So critical is the fuel shortage threatening to limit the operations of the American armada of 30 aircraft that a 6-mile-long hose will be stretched across the ice from the mainland to the tanker Chattahoochee when the Glacier rams close enough.

As we stood on the bridge of the 310-foot, 8,600-ton Glacier with her skipper, Cmdr. Edward G. Grant of Manteca, Calif., the icebreaker pounded ahead in 150-foot thrusts, each time drawing back to two ship's lengths before whacking away with her massive, armor-plated hull.

Some 35 miles off the port beam rose Mt. Erebus, Antarctica's only volcano, belching a plume of white smoke. Off the starboard towered the majestic peaks of the Royal Society Range overlooking America's main station on McMurdo Sound.

About a mile astern the Coast Guard icebreaker Eastwind and the Navy's Burton Island widened the path opened by the Glacier. Trailing behind was the Chattahoochee and the cargo ship Mizar.

Twice Monday the Glacier had to back almost a mile to break ice that had re-formed during the night. As she struggled and trembled, a flock of waddling penguins almost kept pace with her. At best, in this tough ice of the home stretch, the Glacier can make only about 2 miles a day.

U.S. Icebreaker Rams toward Pole

ABOARD ICEBREAKER GLACIER (AP)—This mighty U.S. Navy vessel today smelled victory in its battle to make history's earliest convoy penetration of the formidable antarctic ice pack and relieve a crucial shortage of aviation fuel plaguing America's scientific task force on the polar continent.

Crashing through ice up to 10

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bargain-hunting housewives have an extra reason for being thankful this Thanksgiving Day—turkeys are selling at the lowest prices in 10 years.

Supermarkets and neighborhood stores are amply stocked with the traditional holiday birds.

Turkeys are selling at an average of 29 cents a pound for birds weighing 18 pounds and up, 33 cents for 10 to 17-pound birds and 39 cents for birds under 10 pounds. This is 10 cents a pound cheaper than last year.

Cranberries are in good supply and have been given a clean bill of health.

For those who aren't turkey fanciers, hams and roasts are being widely advertised.

A great variety of vegetables and fruits is available to round out the holiday menu.

Best buys on the vegetable counters are broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, Chinese cabbage, eggplant, endive, escarole, Romaine and iceberg lettuce, eastern onions and potatoes, parsnip, turnips, rutabaga, peppers, radishes, spinach, acorn and butternut squash, and golden and white sweet potatoes.

In the good-buy classification are nearby anise, beans, beets, brussels sprouts, carrots, celery, corn, cucumbers, green onions and leeks, mushrooms, western Spanish onions and russet potatoes, parsley, green Italian and yellow straight neck squash, Puerto Rico potatoes and greens.

Best fruit buys are apples, cranberries, and Florida oranges and grapefruit.

Good buys include avocados, limes, pears and grapes. For the nut dish there are chestnuts.

Oral Cancer Detection Bared

DETROIT (AP)—A new method of detecting oral cancer was explained Monday at the Detroit District Dental Society's 20th annual dental review.

Dr. Donald B. Smith, chief of oral surgery at Veterans Hospital in Dearborn, Mich., said a painless scraping of a suspected oral cancer and a quick study of the cells can determine rapidly the presence of cancer in the mouth.

Painless and easy to do, the scraping will detect mouth cancers in the very early stages, when the cure rate can run between 75 and 100 per cent, Dr. Smith said.

feet thick, the Glacier had only 7½ miles to go to free a pathway for a tanker bearing a million gallons of precious fuel.

Followed by two cargo ships, the Glacier and two smaller icebreakers have fought through 600 miles of ice in the 2,000-mile trip from New Zealand. The commodore of the unit, Capt. Edwin McDonald, a veteran of antarctic exploration, said prospects look excellent for the Glacier to reach its objective almost three weeks earlier than the United States or any other nation has ever ripped out a convoy trail through the thick ice that forms around the continent every winter.

McDonald said the achievement would probably open the way to annual early invasions of the ice pack by cargo ships, greatly reducing the need for expensive and potentially dangerous use of aircraft to get annual summer operations started.

Since late September huge Globemasters have made more than 70 cargo flights between New Zealand and Antarctica, and there have been trips by other planes as well. Getting cargo ships through the ice early will save the Navy hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, McDonald said.

So critical is the fuel shortage threatening to limit the operations of the American armada of 30 aircraft that a 6-mile-long hose will be stretched across the ice from the mainland to the tanker Chathahoochee when the Glacier rams close enough.

As we stood on the bridge of the 310-foot, 8,600-ton Glacier with her skipper, Cmdr. Edward G. Grant of Manteca, Calif., the icebreaker pounded ahead in 150-foot thrusts, each time drawing back to two ship's lengths before whacking away with her massive, armor-plated hull.

Some 35 miles off the port beam rose Mt. Erebus, Antarctica's only volcano, belching a plume of white smoke. Off the starboard towered the majestic peaks of the Royal Society Range overlooking America's main station on McMurdo Sound.

About a mile astern the Coast Guard icebreaker Eastwind and the Navy's Burton Island widened the path opened by the Glacier. Trailing behind was the Chathahoochee and the cargo ship Mizar.

Twice Monday the Glacier had to back almost a mile to break ice that had re-formed during the night. As she struggled and trembled, a flock of waddling penguins almost kept pace with her. At best, in this tough ice of the home stretch, the Glacier can make only about 2 miles a day.
